[Business Results and Financial Conditions]

1. Analysis of business results

(1) Summary

With regard to the global economy in 2021, although it was stagnant due to the global restraint on economic activities caused by the pandemic of coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), there was a sign of recovery. Manufacturing industries including the semiconductor-related industry, whose market remained strong, were in the process of recovery. As for the Japanese economy, consumer spending showed sign of recovery. There was also a sign of recovery in the corporate business sentiment due to an increase in export and business recovery centering on manufacturing industries.

The Showa Denko Group has been giving the highest priority to all stakeholders' safety and health including that of our customers, business acquaintances and employees, and implementing various measures to prevent further spread of COVID-19. To be specific, we are taking various measures including companywide introduction of teleworking. Especially in the head office, through thoroughgoing improvement in business process, the ratio of teleworking has been maintained at the level exceeding the target required by the Japanese government. The Group continues implementing measures which give highest priority to the security of employees' safety and prevention of infection of COVID-19, including grant of special leave when infection is suspected, restrictions on overseas and domestic business trip, and faithful practice of off-peak commuting through introduction of complete flextime. At the same time, in our production bases, we are making utmost efforts to fulfill our corporate social responsibility to continue providing our customers with products essential for infrastructural functions of society.

In 2021, the Group recorded consolidated net sales of ¥1,419,635 million, up 45.8% from the previous year. The sales in the Others segment significantly decreased due to unconsolidation of SHOKO CO., LTD. resulting from transfer of shares in the company. The sales in the Aluminum segment also decreased due to the transfer of rolled aluminum products business and aluminum can business. However, the sales in the Petrochemicals segment increased due to a recovery in market prices of products. The sales in the Chemicals, the Electronics, and the Inorganics segments also increased due to a recovery in sales volumes from those in the previous year in which the spread of COVID-19 significantly depressed the sales. New consolidation of the Showa Denko Materials segment throughout the year also increased net sales of the Group. Operating income of the Group in 2021 significantly increased ¥106,647 million, to ¥87,198 million. Operating income in each segment was negatively affected by decrease in production of cars caused by short supply of semiconductors and a rise in raw material prices. Operating income in the Others segment decreased due to unconsolidation of SHOKO CO., LTD. However, operating income in the Petrochemicals segment increased due mainly to significant improvement in the naphtha factor. Operating income in the Inorganics segment increased due mainly to a significant increase in shipment volumes of graphite electrodes caused by a recovery of the demand for steel. Year-round consolidation of the Showa Denko Materials segment also increased operating income of the Group. Operating income in the Chemicals, Electronics, and Aluminum segments also increased due mainly to realization of effects of various measures to improve profitability. Ordinary income of the Group increased ¥130,832 million, to ¥86,861 million due mainly to non-incurrence of the temporary cost of acquisition of shares in former Hitachi Chemical Company, Ltd., which took place in 2020, and increases in foreign exchange gain and equity in earnings of affiliates, despite an increase in interest expenses as a part of extraordinary loss.

The Group recorded net loss attributable to owners of the parent of ¥12,094 million in 2021, a significant improvement of ¥64,210 million from the previous year. We recorded extraordinary losses resulting from an expenditure to cover the cost of structural reform related to the transfer of energy storage devices and systems business amounting to ¥30,100 million, and an expenditure for execution of environmental measures in a production base of aluminum specialty components business amounting to ¥9,000 million.

(2) A breakdown of net sales and operating income by segment (January 1 – December 31, 2021)

[Petrochemicals segment]

In the Petrochemicals segment, sales increased 46.4%, to ¥283,145 million. In our olefin business, sales increased due to an improvement in supply-demand balance in East Asia resulting from recovery of demand in China and a rise in prices of products including ethylene and propylene resulting from a rise in prices of raw materials. Sales of organic chemicals increased due to a rise in sales volumes of ethyl acetate and vinyl acetate as a result of rebound from the periodic shutdown maintenance of facilities to produce these products that took place in the first quarter of 2020, in addition to the effect of a significant rise in market prices of organic chemicals. As a result, the Petrochemicals segment recorded an operating income of ¥20,701 million, a significant increase of 320.2% from the previous year, due to a significant improvement in the raw naphtha price factor and a rise in market prices of products.

[Chemicals segment]

In the Chemicals segment, sales increased 20.0% from the previous year, to ¥186,873 million. Sales of basic chemicals increased. Sales of liquefied ammonia increased due to an increase in shipment volumes. Sales of acrylonitrile increased due to tight supply-demand balance resulting from the impact of a hurricane in the US, a significant rise in product prices resulting from a substantial rise in raw material and fuel prices, and an increase in shipment volumes of products. Sales of chloroprene rubber increased due to an increase in export volumes. Sales of electronic chemicals increased due to an increase in shipment volumes of products to respond to the demand from the booming semiconductor industry. Sales of functional chemicals increased due to an increase in shipment volumes for Japanese market and export, despite the recent influence of a rise in prices of raw materials and a decrease in production of cars. Sales of industrial gases and coating materials increased due to an increase in shipment volumes. Operating income of the segment increased 60.2%, to ¥21,597 million.

Sales of HD media increased due to an increase in shipment volumes of HD media for use in data centers and PCs. Sales of compound semiconductors increased due to an increase in export. Sales of lithium-ion battery (LIB) materials increased due to an increase in sales volumes of Showa Denko Packaging's aluminum laminate film (SPALF™) used as packaging material for LIBs built into cars, PCs, and mobile devices. As for SiC epitaxial wafers business, sales increased due to an increase in sales volumes resulting from an increase in demand and a start of long-term contracts to supply SiC epitaxial wafers to plural power semiconductor-device manufacturers. Operating income of the segment increased 76.9%, to ¥16,153 million.

[Inorganics segment]

In the Inorganics segment, sales increased 23.4% from the previous year, to ¥102,300 million. Sales of graphite electrodes increased due to an increase in sales volumes caused by an increase in the global demand for steel, which started in the second half of 2020. Sales of ceramics increased due to an increase in sales volumes of abrasives and fine ceramics for electronics. Operating income of the segment significantly increased to ¥14,412 million, a major increase of ¥46,712 million from the previous year due partly to a rebound from application of lower-of-cost-or-market method to inventory in the previous year.

[Showa Denko Materials segment]

We started to consolidate Showa Denko Materials Co., Ltd. and its subsidiaries in the second quarter of 2020, and therefore, we created a new segment for reporting, and started to incorporate sales figures and operating income of the new segment into SDK's consolidated financial statements at the beginning of the third quarter of 2020. The Showa Denko Materials segment recorded net sales of ¥635,033 million in 2021, an increase of 109.8% from the previous year. Sales of electronic materials including polishing materials for flattening semiconductor circuits (CMP slurry) and materials for circuit boards including copper clad laminates remained strong due mainly to the strong demand for semiconductors. The sales of mobility components including molded resins recovered from the level of the previous year in which there was a negative influence of the spread of COVID-19. However, in the second half of 2021, the sales of mobility components was negatively affected by a decrease in production of cars due to recent short supply of semiconductors. As a result, the segment recorded operating income of ¥20,316 million, an increase of ¥26,619 million from the previous year. Operating income of this segment includes amortization of the goodwill of the former Hitachi Chemical which was reckoned up as a result of acquisition of shares in former Hitachi Chemical and other losses amounting to about ¥33,400 million.

Operating income	(6,303)	20,316	26,619

[Others segment]

Operating income of the segment decreased by ¥1,237 million, to be an operating loss of ¥38 million.

(3) Projections for 2022

a) Overall performance forecast

In 2022, global economy is expected to continue to be in difficult conditions due to the quick spread of COVID-19 caused by new variants of virus. It is expected that disorder in supply chain, high energy-source prices, and tight supply-demand situation in the global semiconductor market will continue to have negative impact on the performance of the manufacturing industry, centering on the car-manufacturing-related industry.

Under these circumstances, the Showa Denko Group will continue to invest in plants and equipment of our Core Growth businesses including semiconductor materials business to meet continued strong demand for semiconductor materials caused by the strong demand for semiconductors. For 2022, we expect that the Group's net sales and operating income will slightly decrease due mainly to the restructuring of our business portfolio through sale of several businesses that we promoted in 2021. However, for 2022, we expect that the Group's net sales to be recorded by retained businesses excepting the effect of the sale of several businesses will increase ¥90,700 million, and the Group's retained businesses' operating income will increase ¥10,300 million. We also expect to have significant decrease in extraordinary loss in 2022. Thus, we expect that net income attributable to owners of the parent for 2022 will increase ¥39,100 million.

The Group's performance forecast for 2022 is as follows.

(Unit: millions of yen)

	Results for the term ended on Dec. 31, 2021	Forecast for the term ending on Dec.31, 2022	Increase/decrease	Rate of change (%)
Net sales	1,419,635	1,350,000	(69,635)	(4.9%)
Operating income	87,198	84,000	(3,198)	(3.7%)
Ordinary income	86,861	79,000	(7,861)	(9.1%)
Net income attributable to owners of the parent	(12,094)	27,000	39,094	—

The above forecast is based on the assumption that the exchange rates and the naphtha price will be ¥110.0/$, ¥130.0/€ and ¥51,600/KL for 2022, respectively.

2. Financial conditions for the January 1 – December 31, 2021 period

(1) Assets, liabilities, and net assets

Total assets at the end of the year amounted to ¥2,142,390 million, a decrease of ¥61,216 million from the level at December 31, 2020. Total assets decreased due mainly to the decrease in tangible fixed assets and intangible fixed assets including goodwill, despite an increase in notes and accounts receivable-trade due to recovery in sales of products, an increase in inventories due to a rise in prices of products and raw materials, and an increase in cash and deposits due to an increase in the sum of money received due to public stock offering. Total liabilities decreased ¥161,588 million, to ¥1,323,937 million due mainly to a decrease in interest bearing debt, despite an increase in accounts payable-trade. Interest bearing debt significantly decreased ¥209,543 million, to ¥850,603 million due mainly to repayment of it through utilization of net cash provided by operating activities and cash provided by sale of businesses. Net assets at the end of the year amounted to ¥818,452 million, up ¥100,372 million from the level at the end of 2020, due partly to an increase in foreign currency translation adjustments and an increase in capital stock and capital surplus resulting from execution of public stock offering aiming to raise funds for investment in plants and equipment to respond in advance to rapidly increasing demand for semiconductor materials.

(2) Cash flows in 2021

Net cash provided by operating activities increased ¥5,997 million from the previous year, to the proceeds of ¥115,283 million, due partly to an increase in profit before income taxes. Net cash used in investing activities decreased ¥958,653 million, to the proceeds of ¥28,606 million, due partly to the proceeds of ¥83,915 million resulting from the transfer of businesses, despite the effect of expenditure of ¥890,230 million in the previous year resulting from acquisition of shares in a subsidiary accompanying an expansion of the bounds of consolidation. As a result, free cash flow ended in the proceeds of ¥143,889 million, a decrease in expenditures of ¥964,650 million. Net cash provided by financial activities decreased ¥1,018,262 million, to an expenditure of ¥121,741 million, due partly to the effect of an expenditure of ¥307,247 million resulting from repayment of long-term debt and proceeds of ¥702,163 million resulting from the borrowing of long-term debt in the previous year, although there were proceeds of ¥82,405 million resulting from issuance of new stocks and ¥99,539 million resulting from issuance of a corporate bond. As a result, cash and cash equivalents at December 31, 2021 increased ¥37,011 million from the end of the previous year, to ¥234,938 million, including the effect of exchange rate fluctuations.

(3) Cash flow projections for 2022

Cash flows from operating activities will increase. As for net cash used in investing activities, payment will increase from that in 2021. Thus, free cash flow in 2022 is expected to decrease to the proceeds of ¥5,000 million from the proceeds of ¥143,889 million in 2021. Interest bearing debt at the end of 2022 will be ¥800,000 million, down around ¥50,000 million from that at the end of 2021.

(4) Trends in cash flow indexes

	2018	2019	2020	2021
Equity ratio	41.5%	46.4%	18.4%	24.0%
Equity ratio on a market value basis	44.3%	39.3%	14.5%	20.4%
Debt maturity (years)	1.9	3.8	9.2	7.2
Interest coverage ratio	35.1	33.8	20.3	11.5

[Notes]

Equity ratio: Equity / Total assets

Equity ratio on a market value basis: Total market value of listed shares / Total assets

Debt maturity (years): Interest-bearing debt / Cash flows from operating activities

Interest coverage ratio: Cash flows from operating activities / Interest payment

- Each index is calculated by relevant formulas with financial figures quoted from the consolidated financial statements.
- Equity is calculated by deducting non-controlling interests from total net assets.
- Total market value of listed shares is calculated by multiplying the closing share price at the year-end by the number of shares issued, after deducting treasury stock.
- As to the cash flows, the amount of “cash flows from operating activities” in the consolidated cash flow statement is used.
- “Interest-bearing debt” refers to loans payable, commercial paper, and bonds as listed among liabilities on the consolidated balance sheet.
- As to the interest payment, the amount of “interest expense” in the consolidated cash flow statement is used.

3. Management policy

(1) Medium- to long-term business strategy

In January 2022, Showa Denko K.K. and Showa Denko Materials Co., Ltd. integrated the two companies' management system, and realized substantial integration of the two companies through establishment of management system in which common Corporate Officers manage both companies. At the same time of the start of this new management system, the two companies revised their Corporate Philosophy, and "Long-term Vision for the Newly Integrated Company" which had been announced in December 2020.

"Corporate Philosophy"

The power of chemistry makes it possible for mankind and the earth to live in harmony.

We believe realization of the Purpose of the newly-integrated company, which is "Change society through the power of chemistry," is an obligation of the newly-integrated chemical manufacturer. By embedding the idea of sustainability into the base of the Purpose of the newly-integrated company, we will deal with chemistry in earnest.

In addition to this Purpose, we established four Values which we believe the Group's employees should consider important. The four Values are "Passionate & Results-Driven," "Agile & Flexible," "Open Minds Open Connections," and "Solid Vision & Solid Integrity." We defined the combination of the Purpose and the four Values as the newly-integrated company's Corporate Philosophy.

We will make this Corporate Philosophy permeate into the entire Showa Denko Group globally. The new Showa Denko Group will promote its businesses as a body, strengthen human-resource-training programs, enhance transparency of personnel evaluation system, and promulgate the merit system.

"Ideal state of the newly-integrated company"

We will aim to be a "global top-level functional chemical manufacturer."

As ideal states of the newly-integrated company, we will aim to be a "company that can compete on the world stage" which has competitive advantages in quality and measurable performance, a "company that contributes to sustainable global society" through innovation and power to develop new businesses, and a "company that develops talents that represents Japan's manufacturing industry" which draws attention of various stakeholders, and we will achieve these aims.

"Co-Creative Chemical Company"

We aim to be a chemical manufacturer that takes the initiative in solution of social issues through provision of leading-edge functional materials ranging from midstream- to downstream-products to society. To achieve this target, we believe we should make our business activities go beyond the boundary of an ordinary chemical manufacturer and that of the conventional chemical industry.

We will have global top-level capability as a chemical manufacturer, act and make decisions quickly and flexibly, thereby co-creating better society together with communities and stakeholders of the chemical industry with whom we share ideals. This is the state of "Co-Creative Chemical Company" into which we aim to transform ourselves.

(2) Target management indexes

This time, we introduce return on invested capital (ROIC) as a new numerical target instead of return on equity (ROE), aiming to enhance discipline in investment. We will aim to be in the top 25% of the ranking of total shareholders' return (TSR) in the chemical industry in medium- to long term.

4. Our view on selection of accounting standard

The Showa Denko Group intends to execute its consolidated financial statements in accordance with Japanese standards for the moment, after careful consideration to comparability among consolidated financial statements of different terms or different companies. As for application of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), we will continue carefully observing circumstances in and outside Japan and deal with the standards appropriately.
